HOOT AT THE MATTER

Arkansas Cotton Men Say No Boll Weevil Are in State.

ARE SHARPSHOOTERS

Chemist McLane of the Agricultural Department of the Government Does Not Coincide in This View of the Matter.

Little Rock, Ark., Sept. 22.—Arkansas cotton men, and especially those in this city, which is the chief market for the state, hoot at the interview given out at Knoxville, Tenn., by Charles P. McLane, a chemist in the employ of the agricultural department of the United States government, who has spent two months studying the boll weevil in the cotton-producing country of the southwest. Mr. McLane says a portion of Arkansas has been devastated by the boll weevil, and that eastern Arkansas, and especially Hempstead county, presents a desolate appearance. After a hasty, but thorough, investigation, it has been established beyond the peradventure of a doubt that there are no boll weevils in Arkansas. Recently in Woodruff county, in this state, an insect appeared which caused much damage to cotton, and is still causing it. It was thought by the planters that these insects were the Mexican boll weevil, but investigation proved them to be the sharpshooter, a pest which does almost as great damage as the boll weevil, but which disappears after one season, and may not appear in the same region for a number of years, or at all, whereas the boll weevil, when once it appears, stays year after year.

A special to the Arkansas Gazette from Hope, the county seat of Hempstead county, says the crop there is good, though it has suffered some deterioration, but no more than that suffered in other Arkansas counties, and there has been no evidence of boll weevil.

A Gazette special from Washington says: Dr. L. O. Howard, chief of the division of entomology, said that he had no record of the boll weevil in any of the northwest Texas border counties. Dr. Howard added, however, that there was a bare possibility of isolated cases. For instance, not long ago a few of the weevils were found at the Louisiana experiment station, and just how they got there was never known. If the weevil had been doing "great damage" in Arkansas the agricultural department would certainly have heard about it. Frequently a boll weevil scare is precipitated by the discovery of insects that resemble the weevil, but are altogether different. The department is constantly receiving all sorts of insects which are claimed to be boll weevils, but are not.

Austin, Sept. 22.—The State Association of Spiritualists began a three days' session here, being the annual convention. There are quite a number of delegates from different parts of the state.

The attorney general, in behalf of the state, filed suit in the Twenty-fifth district court against C. Bender, et al of Harris county to recover 1589 acres of public free school land situated in Polk county. A temporary injunction was granted by the court enjoining defendants from cutting timber on said land while the case is pending.

The library of the criminal court of appeals has been shipped to Tyler, where that court holds its next term in October.

Commissioner of Insurance, Clay, has returned from College Station, where he attended the meeting of board of regents of the agricultural and mechanical college. Contracts were let for many improvements to the institution. A telegram received by State Health Officer Tabor from Dr. Sessions at Monterey, Mex., stated that another fatal case of yellow fever occurred there.

Singular and Serious.

AS AN INDIVIDUAL.

Stereotyper Whitmore Alone Responsible for Remarks on Miller Case.

Washington, Sept. 22.—President Whitmore of the Stereotypers' and Electrotypers' union of this city made a statement to the effect that his opposition to the Central Labor union resolutions sent President Roosevelt in the Miller case was as an individual and not representing the union. Mr. Whitmore said the Stereotypers' union is not and will not be involved in the controversy.

ENFORCE DEMAND.

It Involves the Granting of a Concession to an American Syndicate, and United States May Take a Hand.

New Orleans, Sept. 22.—Advices of an expected invasion of Nicaragua are made public by soldiers from Spanish Honduras to enforce that country's contention that Nicaragua, in giving a concession to a Pittsburg syndicate, granted rights on the territory which belonged to Honduras, reached this city via the American ship Breakwater from Puerto Cortez, Spanish Honduras.

"Last month a commission headed by General Ordonez was sent by President Bonilla of Spanish Honduras to Cape Gracias to notify the collector of the port that if the Nicaraguan republic did not recognize certain rights claimed by Honduras along the Wanks river, separating Honduras and Nicaragua, war would be proclaimed by President Bonilla. Customs officials and military authorities at Cape Gracias lacked authority to act in accordance with Honduras' request, so General Ordonez and his colleagues returned to Tegucigalpa after learning that Nicaraguans would be on the look out for an invasion provided Honduras' rights were not respected. President Zelaya, on being notified of the event immediately garrisoned Cape Gracias. Unless an amicable settlement of the boundary dispute is effected there is a strong probability that war will be declared. The stand taken by Honduras may involve that country in a dispute with the United States, as the question affects rights granted to an American company."

SOME SUSPECTED.

Others May Be Implicated in Chinese Substitution Cases.

San Francisco, Sept. 22.—The call says: Three or more deputy sheriffs employed at the county jail as jailers and one, and perhaps two, deputy United States marshals will in all probability be charged with unlawful substitution of Chinese before the investigation now in progress is ended. Evidence obtained against them is said not to be conclusive, but sufficiently strong to warrant something more than suspicion that they have been actively implicated in the illegal traffic, for which three white men and three Chinese are under arrest and on account of which William P. Gamble put an end to his life. The investigation may even go further. There are strong suspicions that federal officials higher up than the men directly charged with the offense of Chinese substitution have expressed acquiescence in the traffic. Their actions in this matter are being scrutinized with the utmost care by secret service agents engaged in the investigation, and it need cause no surprise if an upheaval in at least two important federal offices in this city should follow.

MRS. HELENA BLAV,

Young Milwaukee Society Woman.

TEN thousand cured women have written to tell how Wine of Cardui bestows the blessing of health on every woman who takes it, rich and poor alike. Mrs. Helena Blav, No. 123 Seventh Street, Milwaukee, Wis., is one of the young women whom Wine of Cardui has rescued from a life of suffering. She writes:

Mrs. Helena Blav.

"Wine of Cardui is certainly 'worn out' women's best friend and I am pleased to give my experience with it. A few months ago I caught a severe cold, having been out in inclement weather, which settled all over me, particularly in the abdomen. I was in almost constant pain. I consulted a physician and took his medicine for a month and without any relief. I then decided I would try your medicine and it was a lucky day for me when I did so. I noticed a change in a few days and felt encouraged to continue taking Wine of Cardui, and my patience was rewarded, for in two weeks my pains had left me and I felt like a new woman."

The woman who has suffered from female weakness should do anything within reason to secure health. Wine of Cardui is the medicine that appeals to reasonable women—women who hold operations and cutting in horror—women who know that Nature is the best physician. Wine of Cardui gives women back their health by giving Nature a chance to build up the wasted and diseased tissue. Wine of Cardui regulates the menstrual flow and Nature, when relieved of the drains or of the poisons in the system, makes the functional organs strong and healthy again.

Any woman who is silently suffering untold pains because she is too sensitive to undergo a physician's examination and treatment can find no excuse for not securing relief when Wine of Cardui is offered to her. There is no publicity to deter her. She can take Wine of Cardui in the privacy of her home, with as much assurance of a final cure as though a dozen doctors recommended it. Many physicians do recommend Wine of Cardui to their patients.

Why not get a $1.00 bottle of Wine of Cardui from your druggist today?

and Co. Appointment of the Valis Yet Unsettled.

LIGHT OF TRANSFER

Rather Than a Promotion Is One of the Views of the Situation That Is Taken by Some of the Officials.

Washington, Sept. 22.—The state department still has under consideration the matter of the appointment of the retiring vali of Beirut to be vali of Brusa. At the present the officials are disposed to regard the appointment in the light of a transfer rather than a promotion, but a further inquiry into the facts by Minister Leischman may change this view of the case. It was said at the state department Monday that it was the original intention of the sultan to appoint the former vali of Beirut to be subsecretary of the department of the interior, and it is intimated that the strong representations against the appointment made by Minister Leischman were effective. In his cablegram Mr. Leischman states the American claims against Turkey are not receiving satisfactory attention by the porte. The state department received a long cablegram from Minister Leischman at Constantinople, but nothing was given out regarding it except the informal statement that it contained no alarming news, and was in part concerned with routine business. Withdrawal of the American squadron from Beirut, it was said, has not yet been determined on, and no intimation has yet been received from Oyster Bay as to the president's intentions in the matter. Communications have reached the state department urging this government to say or do something that will put a stop to the atrocities in Turkey. It is said that this pressure does not emanate from the missionaries. Officials at the state department are reticent about the probability of the United States giving expression to the feeling with which the alleged atrocities in Turkey are viewed by the people of the United States, but they say that reports from Turkey show that the deeds daily perpetrated in sections of that country are of such character as to shock civilization, and necessarily are of deep concern to the United States.

To Be Promoted.

Salonica, Sept. 22.—Orders have been received here from Constantinople to promote all sergeant majors to the rank of sub-lieutenants owing to the scarcity of officers in view of the complete mobilization of the Turkish army.

A tank of oil exploded, setting the wreck on fire. Engineer John Madigan, who jumped from his engine, was badly hurt. Mrs. R. L. Drake of Alva, Okla., was severely injured and some other passengers badly shaken up.

Miller Matter.

Washington, Sept. 22.—While the Miller case was being discussed by the executive council of the American Federation of Labor President Whitmore of the Stereotypers' union, employed in the government printing office, characterized the matter as a blunder, and asked that no action be taken.
